

Tackle Your Summer Bucket List and Go Boating

Discover Boating Canada offers ways to get on the water for fun with family and friends before winter arrives

Fall is upon us and no matter what the calendar says there's still plenty of boating to be done before the Thanksgiving weekend, and many Canadians do just that. There is time to enjoy the waterways and take in the beautiful sights of fall foliage from a boat. If you haven't enjoyed the waterways yet this year, now is your chance to make the most of boating season before winter arrives. DiscoverBoating.ca offers ways to make the most of fall regardless of whether you have gone boating this summer or not.

For those who have yet to check boating off their bucket list this year:

- A boat rental is your best bet. Check out Discover Boating's list of boat rental options, and get out for the weekend to make fun memories with family and friends. Boat rentals are simple to do and come in a variety of forms, from hourly to daily rentals. You can even make your very own video of your boating trip using the boating Movie Maker app to show off to your friends on Facebook.

Avid boaters can make the most of boating season before winter hits:

- Take the Kids Boating on the Weekend. Just because the kids are back in school doesn't mean that boating fun should come to a halt. Make the most of the season by spending time with your family and launch your boat at a local ramp or find a marina near you using the Discover Boating's Marina and Ramp Finder.
- Go "broating" before Thanksgiving weekend by doing a fishing trip with your best pals. Be sure to get your best catch using Discover Boating's freshwater and saltwater fishing tips.

DiscoverBoating.ca also offers a list of top boating destinations in Canada for boaters to enjoy beautiful scenic views along our waterways this fall.
